

17th November, 2016

MESSAGE

I am happy to know that the Department of Commerce, Delhi School of Economics, University of Delhi is organising its 5th Annual International Commerce Conference on 'Startup to Sustainability: Initiatives and Challenges'.

I appreciate the initiative taken by Professor Kavita Sharma, Head, Department of Commerce and her team for having chosen the theme on Startups. Notably, Startups have also been an important area of focus in the last Budget. Given the radical expectations from the Startups to boost the economic growth and employment, I hope this two-days Conference will come-up with valuable insights on the Government policies and initiatives on Startups.

With one of the plenary sessions being dedicated to GST, I expect that the speakers will discuss upon how the implementation of GST is going to transform the whole process of indirect taxation in India for the betterment of country's economic growth and ease of doing business.

I wish this Conference a big success.

(Arun Jaitley)

17th November, 2016

MESSAGE

I am happy to know that the Department of Commerce, Delhi School of Economics, University of Delhi is organising its 5th Annual International Commerce Conference on 'Startup to Sustainability: Initiatives and Challenges'.

I appreciate the initiative taken by Professor Kavita Sharma, Head, Department of Commerce and her team for having chosen the theme on Startups. Notably, Startups have also been an important area of focus in the last Budget. Given the radical expectations from the Startups to boost the economic growth and employment, I hope this two-days Conference will come-up with valuable insights on the Government policies and initiatives on Startups.

With one of the plenary sessions being dedicated to GST, I expect that the speakers will discuss upon how the implementation of GST is going to transform the whole process of indirect taxation in India for the betterment of country's economic growth and ease of doing business.

I wish this Conference a big success.

(Arun Jaitley)